GALLICE

OUR STRENGTHS

Our consultants and experts have developed a high level of expertise through proven operational experience and in-depth knowledge of their respective fields (strategy, administration, economics, R&D, etc.).

Working alongside you, GALLICE is committed to a long-term approach rather than simply providing a one-time service: knowledge transfer, training, and professional development are at the heart of what we do and are the key to your success.

In this way, we help strengthen your employees' knowledge and skills, while improving team cohesion and resilience.

OUR EXPERTISES

Engineering, Consulting, and Training

GALLICE offers to provide you with specialists, particularly in the fields of safety, security, and senior public service roles. With a rare level of technical expertise and exceptional experience, our consultants and experts are also able to pool their individual strengths to serve your needs.

Drawing from the private sector, senior government positions in European countries (particularly in Defense and Homeland Security), local government leadership, research, and international organizations, all of our project managers possess exceptional backgrounds: in often sensitive contexts, they have all been responsible for designing, overseeing, managing, or reorganizing entities involved in safety, security, health, vocational training, diplomacy, oversight, or law enforcement.
