

GALLICE

MANAGEMENT OF MAJOR EVENTS

Engineering, Consulting, and Operational Support

OUR VALUES

For the benefit of its clients, GALLICE is committed to the utmost discretion, respecting the confidentiality of information and striving to offer a customized service at the best value for money. GALLICE operates in strict compliance with its rigorous code of trust.

A CLIMATE OF TENSION

THREATS TO MAJOR PUBLIC EVENTS

The context in which major events are organized has changed significantly over the past decade: the attacks in France (Paris and Nice) and England (Manchester) have highlighted the vulnerability of major events to attacks. The stampedes that killed many Hajj pilgrims in 2015 also demonstrated that organizational failures can have dramatic consequences. Whether the risks are criminal, fraudulent, or terrorist in nature, these threats require new approaches to security and defense strategies, as well as the implementation of appropriate measures. Governments and organizers must therefore rethink their approach to ensure that these events run smoothly, protect the public, maintain their reputation, and prevent poor security and safety management from undermining the festive atmosphere and the financial and commercial balance.

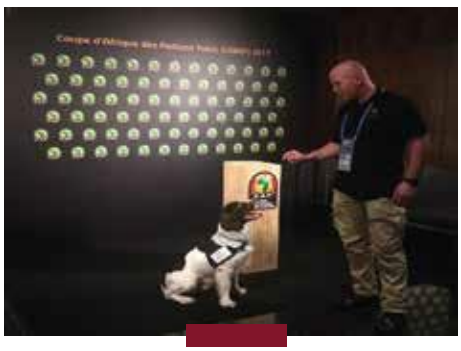

OUR MISSIONS

OPERATIONAL SUPPORT FOR EVENT ORGANIZATION

Through careful planning, training, and communication, most risks can be prevented and many threats can be mitigated. That is why the GALLICE teams support you during the event planning phase by providing advice on safety and security engineering to identify threats and plan appropriate measures. GALLICE also helps you coordinate, harmonize, and strengthen your existing response capabilities to tailor them precisely to each event, whether in terms of security, law enforcement, counterterrorism, or medical response.

PROCESS AND STAFF DEPLOYMENT DURING THE EVENT

GALLICE provides you with technicians, consultants, and managers throughout an event to help you make the most of these enhanced capabilities and handle unforeseen circumstances. We offer complementary capabilities that allow you to cover the full spectrum of risks: deployment of intelligence teams within the crowd to anticipate risks, deployment of screening teams at checkpoints to detect suspicious behavior, support for your crisis management team and incident response units, provision of technical capabilities such as K9 teams and/or drone operators, provision and supervision of security personnel (armed or unarmed) and RINEX teams, and training of law enforcement officers in riot control.

GALLICE

OUR STRENGTHS

The GALLICE teams have developed a high level of expertise thanks to their proven experience and in-depth knowledge of safety and security policies.

GALLICE teams have been deployed at a large number of international events. As a result, several countries have already called on our services for major international events, including summits, the Africa Cup of Nations, the Pan-African Games, Euro 2016, and many other events that bring together numerous VIPs and large crowds in one place.

These events, all of which took place without incident despite very tense circumstances, are concrete proof of the effectiveness of the measures, procedures, and frameworks put in place by GALLICE experts and staff.

OUR EXPERTISES

Engineering, Consulting, and Training

GALLICE offers its clients access to the best specialists in safety, security, and key government services.

Coming from senior government positions in European countries (particularly in defense and homeland security, as well as the corporate sector), all of our experts have exceptional backgrounds: in often sensitive contexts, they have been responsible for leading and managing entities involved in safety, security, oversight, and law enforcement.
All of our experts have had the opportunity to work on large-scale events in international and intercultural contexts, sometimes in highly volatile and complex security situations.

ABOUT US

Risk management is a profession.
The human factor is essential.

GALLICE was founded in 2007 by a group of professionals who gained their experience working in government agencies and private companies; all have extensive experience in crisis management and the management of risks and threats.
These individuals, with their complementary backgrounds and skills, form the backbone of our team. Together with these experts, GALLICE and its partners work to support companies in their risk management efforts.
