OUR EXPERTISES

Engineering, consulting, and training

GALLICE offers to provide you with specialists in safety, security, and senior public service roles.

Drawing from the private sector, senior government administration (particularly in Defense and Homeland Security) in European countries, organizations responsible for developing and enforcing regulations, and local government leadership, all of our experts possess exceptional backgrounds: in often sensitive contexts, they have all been responsible for managing, leading, or reorganizing companies, local governments, and entities involved in safety, security, oversight, or law enforcement.
